Dear Angela,

We are writing you regarding compliance with the Consumer Product Safety Commission Improvement Act of 2008 (the "Act").

Please be assured that The Greene Company has a reasonable testing program in place for all of its apparel and accessory products as and to the extent required by the Flammable Fabrics Act and the regulations promulgated thereunder (16 CFR Parts 1602-1632), the lead in surface coatings limit (16 CFR Part 1303), sharp points and edges standard (16 CFR 150.48/49) and regulations regarding lead content pursuant to the Federal Hazardous Substance Act (15 U.S.C. 1261), which are the only Consumer Products Safety Commission standards, bans, rules, or regulations that apply to the products manufactured, imported, distributed or sold by The Greene Company. Please be advised that, except for the Flammable Fabrics Act, that the standards, bans, rules and regulations apply only to children's products and that The Greene Company does not sell any children's products to you.

We are prepared to deliver you a copy of the General Conformity Certification required by the Act applicable to goods that we sell to you upon your request.
